Dian has been building a globally best-in-class organizations with a uniquely passionate culture and a strong sense of belonging for the past 30 years. Slimline and Unichela, flagship apparel factories of MAS Holdings have been the crucible of innovation in employee wellbeing and community engagement within the industry. MAS Intimates grew under his watch to a USD 2 billion company with over 85,000 associates, and is a globally sought-after manufacturer of lingerie.

Upon completing his tenure at MAS Holdings, Dian's passion to support the community and the country did not come to a halt. He took over the reigns as the Chairman of Hela Clothing (Pvt) Ltd a USD 55 million company and provided leadership to grow to a USD 160 million company within a short span of 2 years, thus providing employment to many people around the country, which became a public listed company in 2022 in the Sri Lanka stock exchange.

Dian has also been the pioneer in creating global platforms for Sri Lankan talent to excel by setting up ventures in countries such as Indonesia, Bangladesh and very recently in Kenya and Ethiopia. He believes and has the utmost confidence in Sri Lankans to perform at the highest level in any country has certainly reaped results over the past years.

Developing people is the crux of his philosophy. Numerous protégés have taken senior leadership positions globally, and he takes pride in supporting the professional development of key talent within the companies he has provided leadership. He dedicated part of his time teaching leadership externally, with over 800 lectures during the past 22 years, to varied audiences both locally and internationally, inspiring them towards excellence.

In his various roles in sports administration, especially boxing, He has nurtured talented village youth to become world-class sportspersons, creating opportunities where they were lacking. His long term efforts were materialized in 2008 where a boxer from a village in Kandy was able to qualify for Olympic Games 2008 in Beijing. Dian’s vision for boxing wasn’t short term, he continued his drive to mentor potential world class athletes which reaped benefits in 2018 by winning 3 bronze medals after 68 years at the recently concluded Commonwealth in Australia.

A strong conviction for supporting communities with infrastructure development and capacity building has given Dian credibility within the operating localities. Focused on uplifting community quality-of-life and impacting our employees, their families, communities and the nation.

As the Chairman of Hela Clothing, Dian has been instrumental in an expedient growth within the last two years by increasing the topline by three folds since taking over as the Chairman of the company. He has provided leadership to increase the standards of the local manufacturing facilities and also expanding to foreign countries

As Board Director of MAS Holdings, He provided input to strategic direction of MAS Holdings, and its subsidiaries. Dian's role also includes guiding and directing the organizational HR, CSR & branding strategies.

As Managing Director of the MAS Intimates, he was responsible for the overall performance of 18 manufacturing facilities and design centers in 7 countries. Responsibilities include financial performance, long term strategy and sustainability, regional expansion, key stakeholder relationships and providing leadership to 75,000 employees.

I hold responsibility for development and execution of strategies to mitigate geographical, customer and product portfolio risk for MAS Intimates. I provide direction for recruitment, development and retention of talent across the organization. I support and give leadership to key focus areas of innovation and lean enterprise.

Additional responsibilities held

- Spearheading MAS Holdings' branding and communication strategy and implementation.
- Providing overall leadership and direction to MAS Holdings' flagship women's empowerment initiative (MAS Women Go Beyond) and Community sustainability outreach programme MAS Eco Go Beyond.
- Initiating and leadership to Management Trainee development programmes for MAS Holdings.
- Guiding, mentoring and supporting sporting talent of MAS Holdings including national and emergent cricketers, pugilists, fencers, rugby players and other athletes.

5. Corporate Leadership

(i) Visionary leadership

- Growing Hela Clothing from a USD 55mil to USD 160 mil within a period of 2 years
- Expanding Hela Clothing Operations to countries such as Kenya and Ethiopia within a short time span
- Growing MAS Intimates from its USD 10 Million beginning at Slimline to USD 600 Million within a period of 20 years and the group to a USD 2 Billion conglomerate.
- Identifying and groom the next generation of corporate leadership by allocating 20% of value adding time to identify leadership growth areas, develop key talent and bridge leadership gaps arising in the next 5-10 years.
- Redefining the apparel industry in the region, by setting benchmark in terms of employee work conditions, above average wages and intensive drive towards social responsibility and sustainability
- Investing pro-bono time for community capacity building, allocating approx. 100 hours per year
- Developing Sri Lankan aspiring athletes to global sportspersons in diverse sports such as cricket, boxing, rugby and fencing. Developing two rural athletes into Olympians, and employing and supporting over 200 athletes that represented Sri Lanka at MAS Intimates & Hela Clothing

(ii) Corporate strategy

- Creating a truly multinational organization. Expansion of geographic presence both from manufacturing and customer contexts, leading into business risk mitigation and strategic resilience

- Branding Sri Lankan apparel to be ethical by developing and benchmarking global best practices and championing the ‘Garments Without Guilt’ brand
- Managing a large workforce in a consultative manner through participative Worker Councils, enabling factories to function free of labor tensions and disputes
- Creating a people centric culture that functioned as an enabler for rapid and effective implementation of lean manufacturing principles and an ecosystem for grass-root innovation
- Creating diverse cost and service models to accommodate a variety of customer engagement platforms based on customer expectations

(iii) Innovation

- Enabling grassroots innovation through cultural enablers; empowerment, development, reward and formal public recognition
- Developing an innovative skill base, risk analysis and commercialization of new technology
- Continuous investment on R&I focusing on step changes and blue sky innovations. These innovations have created groundbreaking products such as high-tech Rugby Jerseys for England/France for the Rugby World Cup, Olympic apparel and product innovation driven lingerie for Victoria’s Secret, Nike, CK and M&S
- Significant investment on exploring new technology and nurturing of an innovation culture within the organisation

(iv) Risk taking
